

Die Leipziger StraÙe

Before World War II the Leipziger StraÙe was a very famous shopping mile with many modern shops and cafés. Rosa Rosenstein preferred the Leipziger StraÙe, because of the nice boutiques. The Alexanderplatz was also near. Rosa liked the shopping mall Tietz there. Nowadays the Leipziger StraÙe is a residential area with big buildings. There are no shopping malls and cafés anymore .The shopping mall Tietz was renamed as Karstadt or Hertie.

If you look for trendy and nice clothes you have to go to the Hakescher Markt. There you can find curious stuff, cafés and also a big marketplace on Thursdays.
